Last-ditch bid for Ontario Grits?

Financial blueprint. Minority Liberals take left turn in budget to stave off an election

Determined to hold on to power and avoid an election, Ontario's minority Liberals revealed a $127.6-billion budget on Thursday that ticks off every demand the New Democrats put on their long list — from giving motorists a break on their insurance to delaying and eliminating some corporate tax breaks.

The NDP has a choice: Prop up a government hungry for their left-leaning supporters, or defeat the budget that they helped craft and force an election just 19 months after the last one.

NDP Leader Andrea Horwath said she will consult the public before making a decision. The budget reflects most of her party's proposals, but it lacks a commitment to deliver, she said.

Even though the Liberals are spending $900 million over five years to satisfy the NDP, the cash-strapped party is making right-leaning promises to limit spending growth to 1.8 per cent a year, rebalance the books in 2017-18 and have no new taxes.

The budget also offers a "much more comprehensive and transformative plan" to help Ontario's economic grow, Finance Minister Charles Sousa said.

"This budget more than satisfies their needs, but more importantly, it satisfies the needs of the public," he said. "This is a budget that talks about how to create jobs; it's a budget that talks about how we can help people in their everyday lives; it's a budget that's going to enable us to reduce this deficit and have a plan to balance."

The Opposition Tories had already vowed to vote against the budget before they read it. So the Liberals need the NDP onside to avoid an election.

"To me it looks like (the Liberals) spent $1 billion to cancel gas plants to try to save Liberal seats, and now they're going to spend $1 billion to try to buy NDP support," Tory Leader Tim Hudak said. "Neither of those ideas is actually going to help Ontario move forward."

Girl, 4, falls into subway-platform gap

Horrific ordeal.
'Blink — and she would have been down,' says aunt

The subway doors opened, and for a few terrifying moments, it was as if time stopped.

Shortly before 8:30 p.m. on Wednesday, Ava Buckareff, 4, was boarding the train at St. Clair station when she slipped through the gap between the southbound platform and the subway car. As her aunt and older brother looked on in horror, the child became suspended at her upper torso, her head and arm above the platform while the rest of her body dangled below.

"She could have fallen. Blink — and she would have been down," recalls her aunt, Esther Buckareff.

Buckareff, who was still standing on the platform, bent down and scooped up her niece, grabbing hold of the little girl beneath her armpits and hoisting her into the train.

According to Buckareff, concerned passengers were

Mind the gap

The size of the gap between subway and platform vary depending on the station and section of the platform, from as small as 2.5 centimetres (roughly an inch) to as wide as 10 to 15 centimetres at the ends of certain platforms, where there is a "curvature."

Ava Buckareff, 4, narrowly escaped a scary incident Thursday when she slipped into the gap getting onto the subway. A TTC spokesperson says no special instructions need to be given for the far ends of the platform. DAVID COOPER/TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE banging on the glass to alert the driver, but those efforts went unnoticed. She said it was by a stroke of luck that when the chimes sounded and the doors slid shut, she was safely inside with both kids.

Although her niece is uninjured, she said the incident should serve as a warning.

"It was a near-horrible thing," she said. "I'd like the gap repaired, because if Ava fell through, other kids could fall through."

Brad Ross, spokesman for the TTC, said an investigation into the incident, which Buckareff detailed in an online complaint, is underway.

The far end of the southbound platform at St. Clair station, where the incident occurred, has one of the larger gaps. Although Ross said he didn't know the exact measurement, he said, "It is bigger than average. There's no doubt about it."

Ross said the TTC has tried to narrow these gaps as much as possible, but their efforts are limited by the "tail swing" of the train. He said the TTC has installed emergency buttons inside trains and on the platform, and uses signs on every car to remind riders to "Mind the Gap."

"Get on anywhere you like on the train, but hold your child's hand and help them onto the train to make sure they're OK," Ross said.

That's not good enough for Buckareff, who said it's unrealistic to expect that parents are "shackled to the wrist" of their children at all times.

"If I were holding her hand, she either would have tripped into that hole, or she still may have fallen into it," she said. "You don't hold your child's hand like you're going to lose them for life."

Rubbernecking

Instagram it and risk a fine

Most motorists will agree that rubbernecking is one of the scourges of modern society. But police now have a tool that may curb rubbernecking: Distracted driving.

Early Thursday, a dump truck's bucket became unlashd, crashing into an overpass on Highway 403. It took about five hours to clear. Motorists took a good long look as they rolled by. Some even snapped photos. The OPP charged at least 12 of them with distracted driving. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Ex-judge accused of selling citizenship tests

A retired citizenship judge has been accused of stealing citizenship exam papers and selling them for a profit.

Philip Gaynor, 70, of Whitby, was charged on Thursday with breach of trust, fraud and theft over $5,000.

Scarborough immigration consultant Li Ling, 49, and her assistant, Mo Sui Zhun, 58, were charged with possession of stolen property.

Copies of citizenship exams were allegedly being stolen and supplied to an immigration consultant "for the purpose of gaining clients' citizenship without necessarily meeting the requirements," said RCMP Sgt. Richard Rollings.

Police did not specify when the allegations took place.

The highly unusual case calls into question the security and access to the tests, administered by Citizenship and Immigration Canada and undertaken yearly by tens of thousands of immigrants hoping to become full-fledged Canadians.

The RCMP launched an investigation last year after receiving a complaint from immigration officials who spotted an irregularity at their Scarborough office.

Allegations of citizenship fraud are not unusual, but a case alleging a citizenship judge's involvement "is unheard of," said Phil Mooney, past-president of the Immigration Consultants of Canada Regulatory Council.

Head-to-Toe Bootcamp ventures beyond fitness

Self-improvement.

Can exercise, therapy and a makeover really help realize a dream?

JESSICA SMITH

jessica.smith@metronews.ca

I've never liked Oprah's show. I can't stand doctors Phil and Oz. I don't read self-help books or women's magazines. I'm hostile to unsolicited advice.

So, when my editor-in-chief asked me to attend a "Head-to-Toe Bootcamp" — which promises not just a workout, but an entire "lifestyle change" — I was hesitant and skeptical.

The bootcamp also offered an "aesthetic makeover with lots of perfume, lip-gloss and more." I don't wear a lot of make-up and never wear perfume. I don't think either would make me a better woman.

But last year, research firm Marketdata Enterprises estimated the U.S. market for motivational programs and products is worth $10.4 billion.

So, I decided it was worth trying to understand.

Day 1

On Saturday morning, I showed up in a neon yellow sweatshirt at the Extension Room, a fitness and dance studio on Eastern Avenue. There I met the other five participants, as well as the bootcamp's creator, Adriana Ermter.

The day began with a workout led by Andi Gladwin, owner of Results Oriented Fitness. She way people deal with grief. I, ironically, turn to food and I've gained 30 pounds," she said.

Her goal is feature in a magazine as a fitness expert or model by year's end.

Next, we had a get-to-know-you session with the other participants. Sitting around a table, we each filled in the sentence, "If I could be..."

One woman wants to write a children's book. Another wants to be able to afford to adopt.

I wasn't prepared to share my goal, to be a wonderful mother one day while devoting myself to the career I love — and I worry that kind of work/life balance just doesn't exist.

It turns out creating this bootcamp was Ermter's goal for seven years. She's a writer in the women's magazine and beauty industry and is constantly exposed to the luxuries that are inaccessible to most.

So, she drew on her connections to bring some of the best perks of the industry to regular women for a weekend. She was enthusiastic, pushing us without any drill sergeant yelling or belittling.

We were all asked to bring a life goal to work on, so after the workout I asked Gladwin for hers. She told me there had been a death in her family.

"Being in the fitness industry, I'm not immune to the feels if we take time for ourselves, we'll be ready to achieve amazing things.

Next was a lunchtime talk with Jane Francisco, editor-in-chief of Chatelaine. She's tall, thin, poised and, for all I can tell, flawless. She chronicled her career from dropping out of university following a di-voice, to waiting, to launching an upstart art magazine, to eventually being asked to head up Rogers' flagship magazine.

Francisco talked about how she manages family and career: with a nanny and a husband who takes on more than his fair share.

She's an inspiring woman, but I was left feeling less confident about my own goal.

After lunch we turned to Hina Khan, a therapist and a relationship expert on CBC's Steven and Chris show. She talked to us about the "three Fs" that stop us from reaching our goal: fear, the inability to forgive and a lack of faith.

A few women opened up about their families and needing to forgive themselves after going through rough periods.

Thoughts about my dilemma, the other women and their goals and their compassion filled my head through the Pilates session that followed. By the end of the day, I didn't have any answers.

When I went home that night, I talked — or ranted — to my fiancé about my frustrations regarding the career woman/mother dilemma. He was supportive and understanding.

Day 2

The next morning I met the women at TAZ Hair Co. in Yorkville. We mingled, got our hair cut and coloured. We received a make-up lesson from Vanessa Jarman, spokesperson for Rimmel London Cosmetics, who sports ashy-blond hair and thick-framed glasses. Her attitude toward beauty was refreshing.

"It's important to figure out what makes you as a person feel good," she said. "If you feel confident walking out of the house with a bright lip on ... then do a bright lip more often than you regularly would. But I think laughing and feeling good in general is the best beauty tip I can give."

During a pause, as we all sat in the salon chairs, I finally told

One of the women, a social worker who wants to adopt two more kids, talked about how much it helps to lean on others for help. Khan, the therapist, told me it was healthy I'd finally had the conversation with my partner.

Neither offered an easy solution, but hearing their advice made me hopeful for the first time. I wondered if this was what Ermter hoped for with her bootcamp.

After I left that day, I realized that, though I won't be going through any old episodes of Oprah, sharing experiences with these women helped me find a clearer idea of the future I want to achieve.

Property the site of 2011 murder bought by couple

'Stigmatized property.'
It's believed the home is where 49-year-old Allan Lanteigne was murdered in March 2011, but couple doesn't mind

The house at 934 Ossington Ave. has been for sale since shortly after Allan Lanteigne was murdered in 2011. DAVID COOPER/TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Two years after a Toronto man was murdered in an Ossington Avenue luxury home that belonged to his estranged husband, the property has sold for $900,000.

The buyers, a professional couple in their mid-30s, were aware of the home's gruesome history and went for it anyway.

"It's a great conversation piece," says realtor Ali Ahmed, who represented them in the deal.

"No, I'm kidding," he adds after a pause. "They are aware about the history and they're not the superstitious type."

After a four-month property hunt, the new owners snagged the three-storey, five-bedroom detached brick house for $50,000 shy of its most recent asking price and are set to take possession next month. Although they felt badly for the victim, the couple had no qualms about buying the place.

It took multiple listing agents, 16 months and a bit of a discount to sell the so-called stigmatized property — a blanket term used to describe homes with unfortunate histories that could affect their market potential.

Police have released few details about the March 2011 murder of Allan Lanteigne, but it is believed the 49-year-old was beaten to death inside the Ossington Avenue home.

Who's watching what?

Planning a movie night for a group this weekend? If so, chances are that selecting a comedy will prove most enjoyable for everyone. Play Taxi Media, a Canadian-based media company with a national network of touch screens in taxicabs, surveyed more than 5,700 riders on their movie preference and results indicated that 40 per cent of women and 34 per cent of men select comedy as their first choice of movie genre.

Comedy wasn't the only genre that both sexes came closest to agreeing on however. Fourteen per cent of women would choose horror along with 11 per cent of men. Nine per cent of both sexes selected fantasy. The dividing line for each sex was between drama and action; 21 per cent of women versus 16 per cent of men would choose drama with 31 per cent of men versus 15 per cent of women choosing action.

When selecting which movie to attend, 65 per cent of the audience overall agreed that viewing a movie's trailer is the main driver in deciding to purchase a ticket. PLAY TAXI MEDIA

5 THINGS TO KNOW ABOUT THE BUDGET

Ontario's minority Liberals revealed a $127.6-billion budget on Thursday. Here are the highlights.

Cash for transit

- The province has allocated $35 billion over three years for infrastructure spending, with one of the biggest chunks going to transit — earmarked at $3.4 billion for the next fiscal year.
- Plans include increasing GO Transit capacity to 50,000 more riders per day, and investing up to $416 million toward the renewal of Toronto's streetcars.
- The budget is slim on details of how the province will fund much of its transit spending partly because the Liberals are waiting for a report due in June from Metrolinx, the transit planning agency.

Car insurance relief

- Ontario's nine million motorists get a crowd-pleasing pledge to reduce their auto insurance premiums by 15 per cent on average, but it's unclear when that will happen.
- The Liberals are also promising to widen key sections of 400-series highways in Toronto and Ottawa and Highway 11-17 in northern Ontario.

HOT lanes for all

- While it isn't entirely clear where all the funds for infrastructure will come from, one source of revenue is to allow drivers to pay a toll to use high-occupancy vehicle lanes even if they don't have passengers.
- The province stressed that the so-called high-occupancy toll or HOT lanes would be voluntary, and intends to introduce the plan at the end of the year.
- The HOT lanes will be installed on some 400-series highways in the Toronto area, including Highway 401.

Bummer for big biz

- The province is reviewing refundable tax credits, with the possibility of turning them into grants or discontinuing them altogether.
- The Liberals have also written to Ottawa asking the federal government to delay HST input tax credits that would have allowed companies with $10 million or more in sales to claim expenses such as meals, drinks and entertainment until 2018.
- The Liberals are also boosting the Ontario Securities Commission's watchdog powers and cracking down on offshore tax cheats.
- Also, companies with a payroll of more than $5 million will no longer be able to claim a health tax exemption on the first $400,000.

Jobs for youth

- There is $195 million over two years to help create 25,000 job opportunities for youth.
- $45 million over two years will go toward a youth entrepreneurship fund.

PUBLIC SAFETY & SECURITY IS JOB ONE FOR TTC

ANDY BYFORD
COMMISSION

The recent events in Boston and the arrests made here over a planned attack on a VIA passenger train are sobering reminders that we must never let our guard down. While transit was not the target in Boston, I remember all too clearly the 2005 terrorist attacks in London and how important it was to have solid plans that allowed us to swing into action. At the TTC, we put your safety and security first. Our 24/7 control centre oversees the network including proactive monitoring of alarms and closed circuit TV systems (CCTV). We have CCTV on all of our new subway trains – and throughout the bus and streetcar fleet – and passenger alarms on the entire fleet. Our subway stations are also equipped with CCTV. Our Transit Enforcement Officers work closely with Toronto Police and other law enforcement agencies to proactively protect our customers and property. The TTC remains one of the safest transit systems of its size in the world. To keep it that way, we continually review procedures so we remain prepared to deal with any eventuality. You can also help keep the TTC safe and secure by being vigilant, keeping your property secure and by reporting any suspicious activity to a member of staff or police.

SATURDAY CLOSURE — ST GEORGE TO UNION STATION

On Saturday, May 4, the University subway line will be closed from St George to Union stations for scheduled signal upgrades.

Due to construction on Front Street West, shuttle buses will not service Union Station.

Instead, buses will run between St George and St Andrew stations on the University line, and King Station on the Yonge line.

Alternate routes to stations on the University line include:

- Shuttle buses stopping at St George, Museum, Queen's Park, St Patrick, Osgoode, St Andrew or King stations
- 94 Wellesley bus, westbound from Wellesley Station
- 506 Carlton streetcar, westbound from College Station
- 505 Dundas streetcar, westbound from Dundas Station
- 501 Queen streetcar, westbound from Queen Station or
- 504 King streetcar, westbound from King Station.

We thank you for your patience as we work to improve the TTC.

PUBLIC FORUM ON ACCESSIBLE TRANSIT — MAY 9

The public is invited to participate in the TTC's Public Forum on Accessible Transit, to be held on May 9 from 7 to 9 p.m. at Queen Elizabeth Exhibit Hall, Exhibition Place. Held jointly with the Advisory Committee on Accessible Transit (ACAT), the meeting gives customers the ability to express ideas on how to make our services and facilities better for people with disabilities.

One-on-one discussions with the TTC Board, TTC staff and ACAT members will be held from 6 to 7 p.m., followed by the open public forum from 7 to 9 p.m. Topics will include discussion of previous public forum concerns and progress made, a review of new service initiatives, and the opportunity to share new concerns or suggestions.

An accessible shuttle bus service will operate from Bathurst Station to the Queen Elizabeth Hall starting at 5 p.m. Return buses will start at 9 p.m. Regularly scheduled accessible bus service is also available on the 29 Dufferin bus route.

ASL, captioning, and attendants will be available. Customers who cannot attend, but would like to contribute suggestions about TTC conventional and Wheel-Trans services, can call 416-393-3030 (TTY, Hearing Impaired Service at 416-338-0357) daily from 7 a.m. to 10 p.m., except statutory holidays, or join the conversation on Twitter using the hash tag #TTCAccess.

RECYCLE

Please keep the TTC litter-free. Recycle your reading materials in any station or platform receptacle.

Coronavirus. Five deaths in seven new cases reported by Saudi Arabia

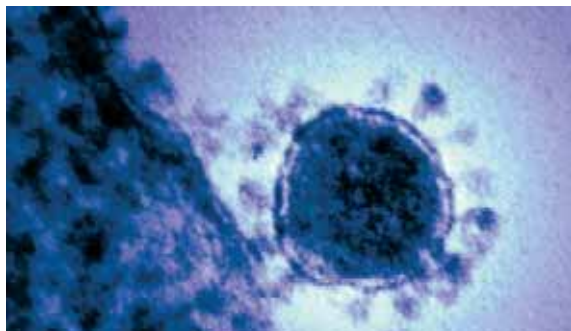

The World Health Organization would like more and quicker information about new coronavirus cases, the organization's head of infectious diseases said Thursday after Saudi Arabia surprised the world with the news it had found seven more coronavirus infections.

The Saudi ministry of health revealed late Wednesday that it had diagnosed the new cases, which bring the global case count to 24. Five of the new seven cases had died by the time the Saudi government told the World Health Organization that additional cases had been found.

Though the majority of the total cases — 16 of which have been fatal — have come from Saudi Arabia, the Saudi government has been very closed-mouthed about the outbreak.

Cancer drug Avastin linked to flesh-eating disease

Necrotizing fasciitis. Health Canada issues a warning after two Canadian cases, one of which was fatal

Health Canada is warning that the cancer drug Avastin has been linked in rare cases to necrotizing fasciitis, the fast-moving bacterial infection also known as flesh-eating disease.

Two Canadians taking Avastin developed necrotizing fasciitis and one of them died, the federal department said Thursday in a warning issued in conjunction with the drug's manufacturer, Hoffmann-La Roche Ltd.

Administration published a similar warning in mid-March, indicating that cases of the tissue-destroying infection have mainly been seen in people with wound-healing complications or certain internal bleeding conditions.

A safety review of the drug by Roche identified 52 cases of necrotizing fasciitis reported worldwide between November 1997 and September 2012; 17 of them were fatal, including the one Canadian.

The cases occurred in patients treated with Avastin for several types of cancer. About two-thirds were being treated for colorectal cancer; 21 of the patients had gastrointestinal perforation, fistula formation or wound-healing complications that preceded the onset of the often deadly infection.

2 girls killed by poison yogurt over school rivalry

Chinese state media say two girls have died after eating poisoned yogurt placed outside their kindergarten at the direction of the head of a rival school.

The Xinhua News Agency says police believe the poisoning was motivated by competition for students between the schools.

It says a woman confessed that she injected the yogurt with rat poison and asked a man to place it with notebooks on the road to the rival kindergarten in Pingshan county in Hebei province.

Xinhua said Thursday that the girls' grandmother found the books and yogurt and took them home on April 24. The children suffered convulsions after drinking the yogurt and died later.

Xinhua said police detained the woman and the man. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

'Power of life and death' not for robots: UN report

Lethal. Professor calls for a moratorium on all killer machines until rules can be developed for their use

Killer robots that can attack targets without any human input "should not have the power of life and death over human beings," a new UN report says.

The report for the UN Human Rights Commission posted online this week deals with legal and philosophical issues involved in giving robots lethal powers over humans.

Report author Christof Heyns, a South African professor of human rights law, calls for a worldwide moratorium on the "testing, production, assembly, transfer, acquisition, deployment and use" of killer robots until rules can be developed for their use.

His findings are due to be debated at the Human Rights Council in Geneva on May 29.

According to the report, the United States, Britain, Israel,

South Korea and Japan have developed various types of fully or semi-autonomous weapons.

In the report, Heyns focuses on a new generation of weapons that choose their targets and execute them. He calls them "lethal autonomous robotics," or LARs for short, and says: "Decisions over life and death in armed conflict may require compassion and intuition. Humans — while they are fallible — at least might possess these qualities, whereas robots definitely do not."

'Culture of secrecy.' Free-speech group gives federal government a D-minus

A test project that allows requests for information to be made online is among a few positive developments that have lifted the federal government's overall transparency performance to a barely passing grade, according to a new report by a free-speech advocacy group.

At the same time, the report by Canadian Journalists for Free Expression takes aim at the Conservative government for its "culture of secrecy" as epitomized by the muzzling of federal scientists.

"There are good reasons to go even lower than last year's failing F," states the Review of Free Expression Canada, released ahead of Friday's World Press Freedom Day. "But rather than repeating this dismal year, we hope the federal government will heed the many voices calling for change."

Overall, the group's 2012-2013 report gives the federal government a

Among signs of hope, the report points to government plans to make summaries of completed access to information requests searchable across all departments and a push by Information Commissioner Suzanne Legault to update the act.

Controlling the message

Report: Feds 'muzzling scientists'

The report is especially scathing of the Department of Fisheries and Oceans — it gets an F — for "its zeal in muzzling scientists, controlling its message and keeping critical information away from the public."

In a statement Thursday, Matthew Conway, spokesman for Treasury Board President Tony Clement, said communications guidelines for scientists have not changed in more than a decade.

"Government scientists and experts are readily available to share their research with the media and the public," Conway said. THE CANADIAN PRESS

BELEAF IT OR NOT: TWITTER TYPES

@Proteatype

What can we say about Adam Proteau? The Hockey News writer's work graces our paper weekly during the season not only because he's a good wordsmith, but also because, more important, his sarcasm and realism know no limits. For Leafs content we suggest a peek at his account for a breakdown of everyone's favourite team.

@DownGoesBrown

Thank goodness there's blogger Sean McIndoe, who knows not only his hockey facts but also his Maple Leafs history. If you're looking for an unashamedly pro-Maple Leafs fan, with a healthy case of cynicism, to round out this nail-biting season, then he's it.

@SuicidePass

Passion can sometimes manifest in strange ways. Luckily for us, @SuicidePass has channelled his love for the Maple Leafs (and hockey in general) into a Twitter account that amuses but also gives us another look at the ups, downs and every other moment for the team.

@arnettwill

Despite not wanting to make this a celebrity list, we felt the need — nay, compulsion — to include actor Will Arnett, who often wittily tweets about his home team while occasionally throwing some very funny shade their way at the same time. METRO

FANDEMONIUM:
LEAFS VS. BOSTON

Yes, the Leafs lost 4-1 in their series opener to the Boston Bruins, and yes, they may be a bit inexperienced in the playoffs, seeing as they are young and haven't made the post-season in nearly a decade. But if history is any indication, a bad start in the first round doesn't always mean a quick exit in the Stanley Cup playoffs. Here's a look at some past NHL teams that have made some memorable comebacks.

2011: Tampa Bay Lightning

The Lightning got off to an ugly start in Game 1 of the Eastern Conference quarter-finals against a Pittsburgh team without injured superstars Sidney Crosby and Evgeni Malkin. Penguins goaltender Marc-Andre Fleury shut out the Lightning 3-0 to open the series.

The Lightning dominated in the second game with an emphatic 5-1 win, but lost Games 3 and 4. Trailing 3-1 in the series, the Lightning made a ferocious comeback and defeated the Penguins to advance to the Eastern Conference semifinals.

Facing off against the Washington Capitals in the next round, the Lightning went full-force to sweep them. The Lightning advanced to the conference finals, only to lose the series 4-3 to the Boston Bruins.

After the early wake-up call from the Capitals, the Penguins went on to dominate by defeating the New York Rangers in six games and sweeping the Boston Bruins and Chicago Blackhawks en route to the Stanley Cup.

1994: Vancouver Canucks

Entering the Western Conference quarter-finals as the seventh seed, the Canucks pulled off a few upsets in the 1994 playoffs, starting with the defeat of the Calgary Flames in seven games after being down in the series 3-1.

The Canucks made it all the way to the Stanley Cup final, facing off against the New York Rangers. For the second time in the playoffs the Canucks went down 3-1, but once again they mounted a big comeback to take the Rangers to seven games. They ultimately lost the deciding game by a score of 3-2. This was the infamous match that led to a series of riots in Vancouver.

2010: Montreal Canadiens

The Montreal Canadiens, the No. 8 seed, faced off against the Washington Capitals, who entered the playoffs as the Presidents' Trophy winner.

They started off the first round with a win, but lost to the Capitals in the next three games. The Canadiens then took charge in the last three games to win the series in seven.

The Canadiens battled their way into the conference finals, losing to the Philadelphia Flyers in five games.

Economist Stephen Poloz named new BoC governor

Central bank surprise. Flaherty passes over heir apparent as he announces replacement for outgoing governor Mark Carney

Finance Minister Jim Flaherty has once again named an outsider to take over the critical economic and financial post of Bank of Canada governor, bypassing the institution's traditional chain of command.

The appointment of Export Development Canada chief executive Stephen Poloz, 57, was a mild surprise when it finally came Thursday afternoon, but would have been regarded as a shocker a few months ago.

Until speculation began to build about the long time it was taking to name a successor for the departing Mark Carney, most markets and economists were convinced the job would go to the bank's second-in-command, Tiff Macklem.

Still, markets — counting on Macklem getting the job to maintain continuity in monetary policy — had a mildly negative reaction to the news, pushing the Canadian dollar 0.2 per cent lower to 99 cents US in after-market trading.

Analysts offered reactions ranging from "mild" to "huge" surprise, and offered several explanations for the choice, including Poloz's superior private-sector experience.

Flaherty refused to compare candidates, but said after an exhaustive search and a "wealth of talent to choose from," Poloz emerged as an "excellent choice to lead the Bank of Canada into the future."

Triclosan. Safety of soap ingredient under review — after decades on the market

It's a chemical that's been in North American households for more than 40 years, from the body wash in your bathroom shower to the knives on your kitchen counter to the bedding in your baby's basin.

But U.S. federal health regulators are just now deciding whether triclosan — the germ-killing ingredient found in an estimated 75 per cent of antibacterial liquid soaps and body washes sold in the U.S. — is ineffective, or worse, harmful.

The U.S. Food and Drug

Administration is planning to deliver a review this year of whether triclosan is safe. The ruling, which will determine whether triclosan will continue to be used in household cleaners, could have implications for a $1-billion US industry that includes hundreds of antibacterial products, from toothpaste to toys.

The review comes amid growing pressure from lawmakers, consumer advocates and others concerned about triclosan. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bangladesh disaster

Loblaws to audit structural integrity of supplier buildings

Loblaws says it will continue manufacturing Joe Fresh clothing in Bangladesh and also take new steps to ensure the structural integrity of supplier factories in the wake of a building collapse that killed more than 400 people.

"We must do a better job to enforce the safety of workers producing our products in Bangladesh and around the world," Joe Mimran, who founded the clothing brand Joe Fresh, said Thursday before Loblaws' annual meeting.

DARKROOM TAKES ON DIGITAL

1 Ricky Romero. Romero, the former ace of the Toronto Blue Jays who was left with the Class-A Dunedin Blue Jays after spring training to correct his delivery, is already back in the majors. With the Jays floundering and starter Josh Johnson injured, Romero is pitching Friday against Seattle. The panic button was pressed.

3 Amanda Knox. In an absolutely riveting hour of TV on ABC Tuesday night that 8.5 million viewers watched, Diane Sawyer asked probing questions that often left the viewer with more questions than answers about the case. What the interview did definitely confirm is that Sawyer is a pro, one of the best interviewers anywhere.

5 Consumed. This new book by Canadian author Sarah Elton provides a thoughtful, inspiring look at the future of food on our planet in the face of climate change and population growth. Food sustainability issues have never been more pertinent, and Elton travels the planet — from rural India to Detroit (yes, Detroit) — to find unique forms of modern agriculture in development. Consumed: Food for a Finite Planet may well change how you view, and consume, food. A must read.

6 You Move Me. Canadian entrepreneur Brian Scudamore's 1-800-GOT-JUNK made picking up junk sexy, and his new company, You Move Me, could do the same for moving. Trying to pioneer the moving industry, it promises "to move people, not just their boxes." This includes complimentary morning coffees, a housewarming plant as a post-move gift, no-charge assembly and disassembly, and a wardrobe box that doubles as a kids' fort! Now that's customer service.

And what are you going to say when your child asks, "how are babies made?" No worries, there's an app for that! Yes, Vancouver-based Mary Roka and Jen Weidemann's Birdees app provides an innovative way to turn sex ed into a game, delivering quick answers to the toughest questions parents might get.

8 Leafs Nation. They had waited nine years for a playoff game, but all the Leafs gave Leafs Nation was a headache Wednesday night with their stinker — losing 4-1 to Boston. Maple Leafs head coach Randy Carlyle put it best, saying his team, "self-destructed." They'd better get their act together for Game 2 in Boston Saturday night. A nation will be watching. Go Leafs Go.

9 WestJet. I flew with WestJet to Orlando last weekend, and was blown away by their WestJet Cares for Kids program for Make-A-Wish Canada. We witnessed kids with life-threatening medical conditions who were treated like royalty on the plane by stewardesses with big hearts and smiles. And then they got to go to Disney World. Further proof these acts of kindness make a world of difference.

Seems Stewart is taking a hiatus to direct his first movie, Rosewater, Comedy Central announced. If things don't work out with Oliver, a correspondent on the show, The Daily Show with Neil Morton sounds like a gem.

Green and yellow water in White Sea

FRANCO BANFI/SOLENT

Divers take a dip in icy emerald sea

Braving sub-zero conditions, eerie light overhead and perilous darkness below, two scuba divers explore a mysterious but extraordinary underwater world beneath layers of ice. This fascinating picture taken by photographer Franco Banfi reveals what lies beneath the iced surface of the White Sea on Russia's north-west coast.

The water's colours of green are created from humus — a major component in the organic matter of soil. The water is even yellowish and brownish in hue near the river mouths where humus content is high. The ice itself is often coloured by algae, which provides a major food source for marine life. The world's northernmost regions have some of the most coloured waters.

RE: Six Ways to Kill a Cyclist, published April 28

We should not be focusing on driver training, cyclist education, cyclist protective gear (helmets, etc.), or anything like that in terms of increasing cyclist safety. WE SHOULD BE FOCUSING ON PROVIDING PROPER INFRASTRUCTURE.

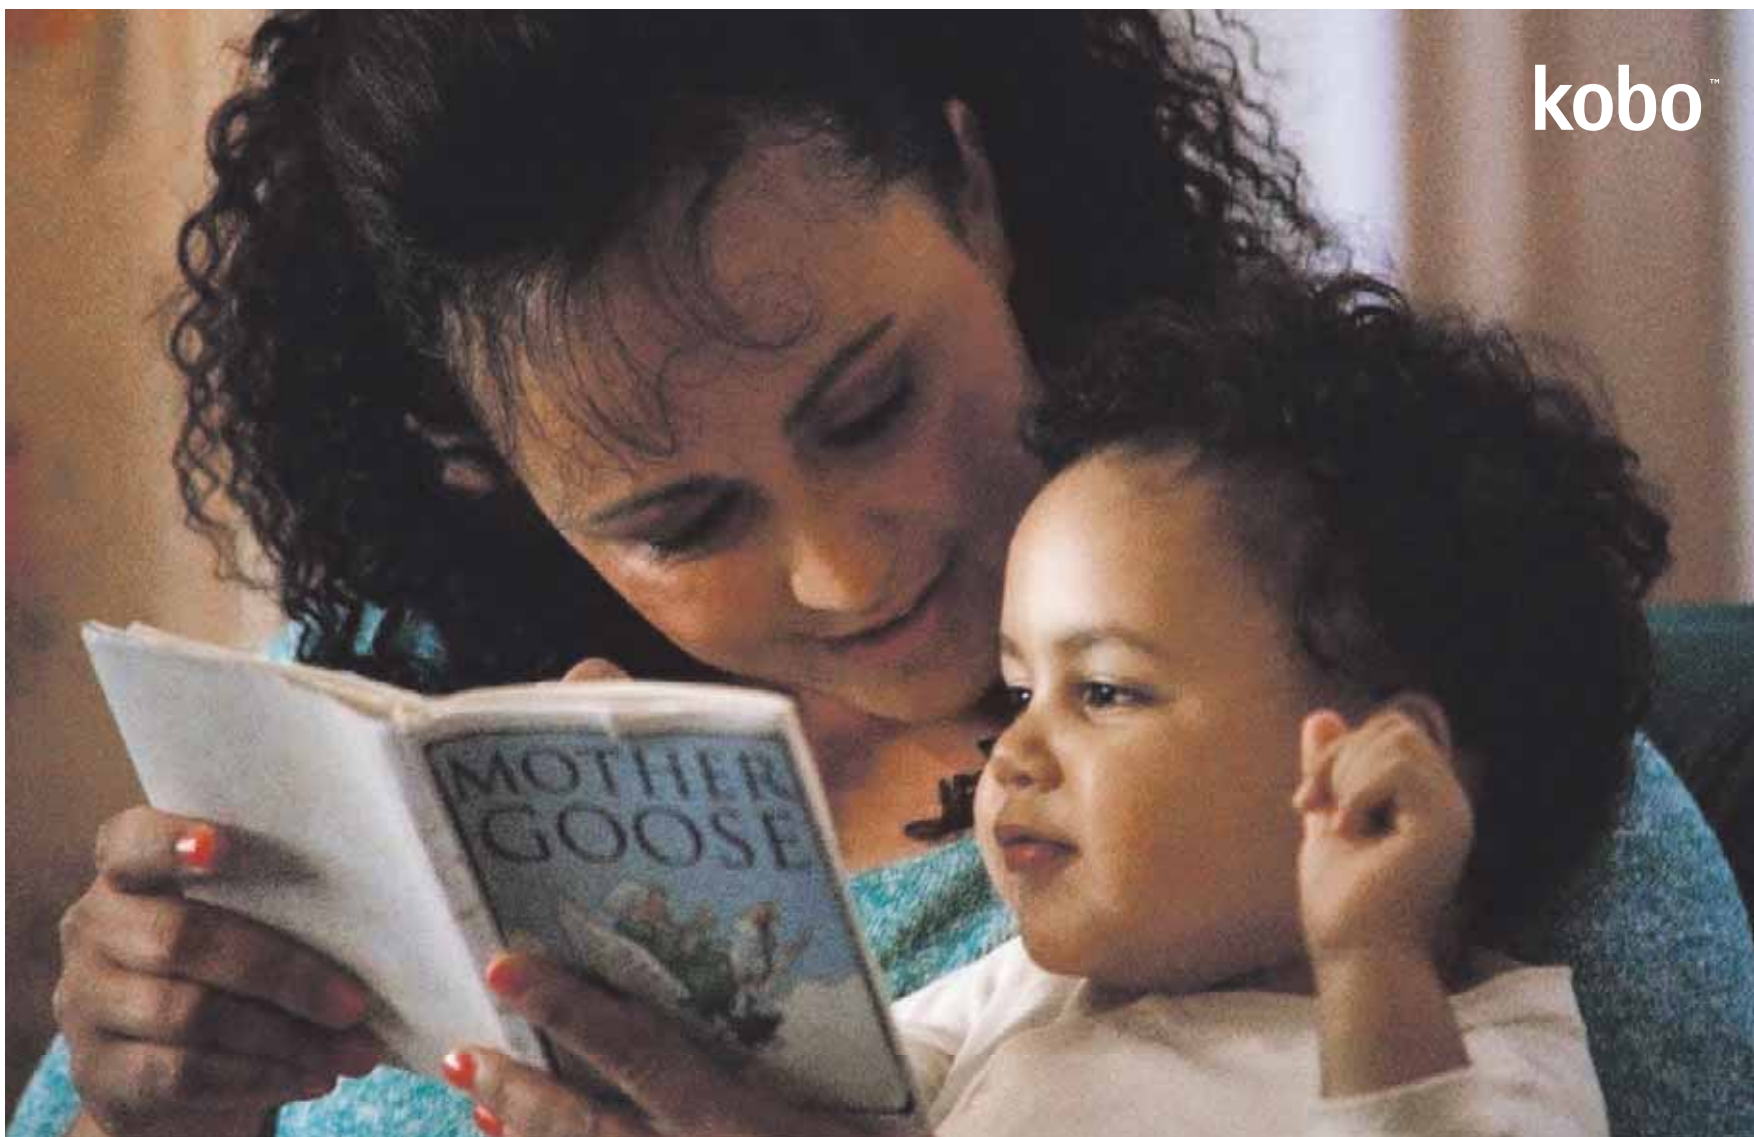

We can't leave the street as a wide, empty, basically blank canvas for cars to completely dominate and then expect everyone to try and be egalitarian and altruistic.

Providing legitimate, separated, exclusive cycle tracks for cyclists is the only way to properly protect drivers, cyclists, and pedestrians as it provides a buffer between all three.

Synopsis

It's May 3 and there's a new Iron Man movie. That means it's summer movie season and soon theatres will be filled with angry aliens, hungry zombies and giant sea monsters. There will also be some wild movie characters as well. It's popcorn movie season and this week the Reel Guys have a look at what movies make them hot as the temperature rises.

Reel Guys

CROUSE AND
MARK BRESLIN

Iron Man 3 hits theatres Friday and heralds the beginning of summer blockbuster season and the Reel Guys are making their summer picks. HANDOUT

Summer must-sees

Preview. The days are getting longer and warmer — and the Reel Guys can't wait to hide out in a dark movie theatre!

Richard: Mark, summer movies leave me feeling conflicted. I'm always in the mood for something with substance, so I'll definitely line up to see Before Midnight, the third part of the Ethan Hawke-Julie Delpy relationship trilogy, but man, there's something about the hot weather that makes me want to watch things explode. To satisfy that basic need, Star Trek Into Darkness is high on my list. How about you?

Mark: Richard, there are two kinds of people: Star Trek people and Star Wars people. Unfortunately, I am neither. I am looking forward to the Superman reboot, Man Of Steel. Nothing says "popcorn movie" better than the granddaddy of all superheroes. I'm also looking forward to Wolverine. He's the most complex and nuanced of all the X-Men characters and I enjoyed the first one even more than the rest of the X-Men series. By the way, I'm not a Before Midnight guy either. During the first two, I kept hoping both characters would fall into the Seine.

RC: How about zombies? I'm a big fan of The Walking Dead so I'm looking forward to World War Z filling the gap between seasons of the show. If brain-eating undeads aren't your thing, however, how about some brain dead teen thieves? The Bling Ring is Sofia Coppola's movie about real-life rich kids who used the Internet to track the whereabouts of celebrities and then rob their homes. It'll be the opposite of a gritty true crime story — one of the victims, Paris Hilton, even has a cameo — but fans of L.A. and Louboutins should find something to like here.

MB: Two good choices, Richard! I don't even like zombie movies and I can't wait for World War Z! Brad Pitt and millions of rotting ugly faces — the contrast alone will be high drama. And I like everything Sofia Coppola does. And if we're talking indie films, what about The Wonderful Now, a coming-of-age rom com that was a Sundance favourite this year? Or on a different note, Love-lace, the biopic of the Deep Throat star which asks the burning question: how badly does Amanda Seyfried want to change her image?

RC: After The Big Wedding, Seyfried needs to shake things up a bit. I think the wildest movie of the summer might turn out to be Pacific Rim. Sea monsters versus robots? I'm in.

MB: I'm looking forward to a movie where there won't be a single human to get in the way. Or there's always the next Vin Diesel picture.

Kon Tiki is a movie to be seen on the big-screen. Beautifully-shot, this epic drama (and Norway's most successful film in 2012) is an inspirational, absorbing survival tale about an explorer's trek across the ocean on a balsa wood raft. An Oscar-nominee for best Foreign Language Film (even though it's primarily in English), the film may amplify the true-life adventure for filmgoers but as far as cinema goes, Kon Tiki is a ship worth sailing. STEVE GOW

Good movies about and for older audiences are the new black. Still Mine, shot in northern Ontario and New Brunswick, is one of the best. A woman in her 80's falls down the stairs, prompting her husband to build a safer home on their property with his own hands. Local planners and unsupportive children block him at every turn but his will is boundless. The meat of the story is the 61-year bond between the couple, made achingly real by two gifted veteran actors.

In the third instalment, The Mandarin (Sir Ben Kingsley), an Osama bin Laden wannabe, is terrorizing the planet. The situation becomes personal when Stark's girlfriend Pepper (Gwyneth Paltrow) and bodyguard (Jon Favreau) are threatened by the madman. Iron Man 3 is a huge summer action movie, but it's darker than parts one and two. The story is deeper but I have one complaint: It's hard to understand why Robert Downey Jr. doesn't spend more time in the iron suit. RICHARD CROUSE

Whoa, Bill has made a doc, dude

Alex Winter and Keanu Reeves during their Wyld Stallyns days. HANDOUT

Downloaded. Even 25 years later, Alex Winter still gets plenty of questions about Bill & Ted and the biggest of all — will there be another?

When child star Alex Winter attends a film festival, there's only one project fans want to discuss — Bill & Ted's Excellent Adventure.

No matter that the slacker comedy is nearly 25 years old, or that the guy who played Bill to Keanu Reeves' Ted has moved on to directing serious documentary projects.

The 47-year-old Winter says he's still recognized "all day, every day" as dim-witted teen history buff from the 1989 comedy, even as he makes the rounds at the Canadian International Documentary Festival with his Napster-focused saga Downloaded.

"Everywhere in the world," Winter says of the Bill's widespread reach during a recent interview in Toronto.

"I literally was shooting a car commercial in the Sahara Desert. I am not joking — on a dune — and got recognized."

Winter says his acting days are largely behind him and that his real passion has always been to direct.

He began working on Downloaded nearly 10 years ago, when he envisioned it as a dramatic feature tracing the rise and fall of Napster and its young-but-brilliant masterminds Shawn Fanning and Sean Parker.

Alex Winter's latest project is a documentary focused on the rise and fall of Napster. GETTY IMAGES

Winter says he wrote the script for Paramount in 2004, spending "a couple of years" researching and writing it well before 2010's The Social Network traced a similar line for Facebook's Mark Zuckerberg.

"There was probably a million reasons why (it didn't get made) but it was also just very early to be telling a story about the digital revolution," says Winter, who cut his teeth directing music videos and commercials.

"Nobody understood the technology that had taken over the world, nobody knew what downloading was, nobody understood the sheer magnitude (of it)."

The industry-shaking impact of Napster is felt to this day, with Winter tracing a line from the mp3 finder's quick-and-easy file-sharing technology to the growing on-demand home entertainment world we see now.

"The fact is that we all get our content online for the most part nowadays. The vast majority of people who do that are paying for it and have been for a decade. The notion that we live in a free culture and that everyone is just stealing stuff all the time wasn't even true in 1999. It's completely not true today," he says, pointing to the rise of popular services including iTunes and Netflix.

"There are issues with piracy, of course, there always have been ... but the fact is that it's long since been proven that the public doesn't want to steal and will happily pay for content. What hasn't happened yet is that the major industries have not yet found a way to deliver content in a way that's as compelling and convenient as some of the other services that kind of end-run them."

In addition to archival and new footage of Fanning and Parker, "Downloaded" features famous opinions on both sides of the debate including those from Noel Gallagher, Henry Rollins, Lars Ulrich, former Sony Music chairman Don Ienner and former record producer and Island Records founder Chris Blackwell.

As for ongoing speculation of a long-awaited follow-up to the "Bill & Ted" sequel "Bill & Ted's Bogus Journey," Winter is concise in his response: "I can't comment."

Which, of course, only suggests that the project is finally happening, right?

"I hope so," Winter says cryptically, insisting he can't say more. "People who are Bill & Ted fans tend to be really sweet so I think it's awesome," he says of lingering nostalgia. "A lot of people don't get to make movies that last decade after decade after decade. So come on, you can't really be a stick-in-the-mud about having been in one of those."

Downloaded screens Friday at Toronto's Hot Docs festival.

Making mom proud, the 'real' way

Leah Remini. King of Queens co-star took role at mother's urging Leah Remini had good reason to join the new ABC sitcom Family Tools.

The former King of Queens star has a development deal with the network, and ABC Entertainment Group president Paul Lee asked her to be part of the comedy that airs on Wednesdays.

Then Remini's mother weighed in.

"She said, 'Who's in it?'" the actress recalled. After hearing the cast included J.K. Simmons (Juno, The Closer), Remini's mom replied, "He's a real actor, Leah. You should do it."

"As opposed to me," Remini said, wryly. "He's real, he does drama."

Remini has made her career largely in comedy, but her mom can still brag about her.

Silent sitcom

"I found myself going up to the lighting guys and saying 'Is that funny?'"

Actress Leah Remini on the single-camera, no-live-audience show experience in the new ABC sitcom Family Tools.

Besides the 1998 to 2007 run opposite Kevin James in CBS' King of Queens, Remini has worked steadily in a string of sitcoms including Cheers and In the Motherhood. She was a co-host on The Talk for a year and is venturing into reality TV production with her husband, actor Angelo Pagan.

(All Remini will say of her experience with The Talk is that "a real friendship was born out of that" with Holly Robinson Peete, another host who was released from the CBS show after the first season.)

In Family Tools, Remini plays Terry, sister to Tony (Simmons). When the

J.K. Simmons, left, Johnny Pemberton and Leah Remini star in the new sitcom Family Tools. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

iras=cible Tony faces a him to bring in his flighty health crisis, Terry forces son Jack (Kyle Bornheimer) to help run Tony's handyman business.

Edi Gathegi, Johnny Pemberton and Danielle Nicolet co-star in the sitcom based on the influential and popular British comedy White Van Man.

Remini said she and Simmons represent "the grandpa and grandma of the show," the seasoned actors who have seen it all.

"Kyle and Ed and everyone are going over their lines, rehearsing scenes with each other, very actor-like. And J.K. and I are ... 'What did you do last night?'" she said.

Family Tools does have its challenges: It's a single-camera comedy filmed without a studio audience, a change from the three-camera sitcoms Remini is used to taping in front of a responsive crowd.

"You get an honest reaction from an audience. They're going to laugh if they think it's funny," the 42-year-old actress said. "I'm so used to that immediate gratification."

Barber's pregnant and on the move

On stage. After a busy tour, the Canadian songstress will finally take a break

Juno-nominated chanteuse Jill Barber has some of the biggest gigs of her career lined up this week — and, as she quips, they feel big in more ways than one. “Because I’m pregnant right now, so I’m literally feeling bigger,” she laughed on the sunny patio of a Toronto café this week. “To perform onstage, I feel a little more vulnerable or something.”

“But I think that could be good. I think vulnerability onstage generally isn’t a bad thing.” Even if she wasn’t more than six months pregnant with her first child, Barber might feel daunted by the week’s festivities.

On Thursday, she’ll take the stage at Montreal’s Metropolis — capacity 2,300 — followed by a Friday night engagement at Toronto’s lushly historic Winter Garden Theatre, with a Saturday gig next in Bragg Creek, Alta. And then the classification-defying singer will take a five-month reprieve from the road that she’s entering with some trepidation.

“It’s totally wild to me,” says Barber, who’s married to author and CBC-Radio personality Grant Lawrence. “To actually take a break is kind of scary. I guess, but good. I know it’s not that long. But the other thing in my career is as an independent musician, it’s so much about momentum, and I’ve always felt that too.” THE CANADIAN PRESS

Ex-Boyfriend/Lil Dicky

By far the funniest video I’ve seen this year. Think of it as a modern update of Joe Jackson’s Is She Really Going Out With Him, except very NSFW. Now you’re curious, right?

Bounce/Cho Yong-pil

Psy’s run at number one at home in Korea with his new single, Gentleman, was cut short by this track from a 63-year-old easy listening star. Oh, the fickleness of the music business.

R5 a family affair ... except for that guy

Newest sensations. California music group to be the next big thing?

ELISHA DACEY
Metro in Winnipeg

They're like a modern Von Trapp family, except without the outfits made from curtains.

Meet R5, the newest teen-sensation group your tween will likely be shrieking about in the next year or so.

Like Hanson before them, what makes them more unique in the music world is they're all from the same family — except for that little guy on the end.

"What?" draws Ellington Ratliff, who goes by his last name. "No, not related."

Brothers Riker, Rocky and Ross, along with sister Rydel make up the five, leading to their name, R5, of course.

"We started at a very very young age," said Riker, "just performing for our family and friends ... then when we moved out to California, Rocky started to play, taught himself how to play guitar, then me and Riker picked it up, then we met Ellington at a dance studio ... he completed the band."

"We never really established that we wanted to be a band, it just sort of happened."

Hot on the heels of their debut single, Loud, the group are touring across Canada this spring in support of their upcoming album of the same name.

Tour schedule:

Ottawa. May 5, the Bronson Centre

Hamilton. May 6, Molson Studio at Hamilton Place

London. May 7, Music Hall Lounge

Winnipeg. May 10, the Garrick Theatre

Saskatoon. May 11, Louis' Pub

Edmonton. May 12, the Starlite Room

Vancouver. May 14, Rio Theatre

Actors

If Riker and Ross look familiar, it's because Riker has done acting and singing stints on Glee and Ross stars in Austin & Ally on the Disney Channel.

"We have fights, all families have fights, but we're better than most," said Ross. "We're all best friends, genuinely," added Rydel.

The five were recently in Disney World, where this reporter caught up to them as they performed live on Cityline. See video of that performance at metronews.ca.

OUR TAKE ON THE WORLD OF CELEBRITIES

The Word

Spice Girls lose some of their, well, spice

Dorothy Robinson
scene@metronews.ca

The Spice Girls' West End musical, Viva Forever!, which features the girl band's songs, is closing eight months early due to slow ticket sales. The show was scheduled to run until February 2014, but it will now close next month.

Spice Girl Geri Halliwell (a.k.a. Ginger Spice) has expressed her disappointment on Twitter, writing, "We love u all Viva Forever, what a shock, gutted."

A message from the show's producer, Judy Cramer, reads: "It is with a heavy heart that I've had to make this very difficult decision to post closing notice for Viva Forever! ... Despite the wonderful audiences, extremely positive feedback and the standing ovation at every performance ... we just can't make it work."

"I am extremely proud of everyone involved in this production. Viva Forever! may be taking its leave for now in the West End but the legacy of Spice Girls will never fade!"

Yeah, no. Actually, if your musical closes after four months, your legacy is fading. That's exactly what that means.

Who's that girl with the 'Virgin Bachelor'?

The "Virgin Bachelor" Sean Lowe boarded an L.A. flight on April 25 for a public appearance in North Carolina.

He didn't take fiancée Catherine Giudici along with him, but rather it was his Dancing With the Stars partner, Peta Murgatroyd, who was his seatmate, reports Life & Style.

An eyewitness tells the magazine: "It was his dance partner from the show. I couldn't believe my eyes."

Lowe is now on the defensive, saying Murgatroyd went with him so they could "squeeze in more rehearsal time." I wonder what else they "squeezed in" on that trip?

Drunk and disorderly, but not pregnant

Two weeks after she was arrested for disorderly conduct and her husband was arrested for a DUI while in Atlanta, Reese Witherspoon is attempting damage control.

"It was one of those nights, we went out to dinner in Atlanta and we had one too many glasses of wine. We thought we were fine to drive and we absolutely were not," she told Good Morning America.

"I saw (the officer) arresting my husband and I literally panicked. I said all kinds of crazy things. I told him I was pregnant — I'm not pregnant. I said crazy things. I have no idea what I was talking about ... I was so disrespectful to him."

She told him she was pregnant? That's so weird. Did she think the officer would be more sympathetic to a drunk pregnant woman?

Looks count

LIQUID ASSETS
Peter Rockwell
@therealwineguy
liquidassets@eastlink.ca

While it may not be politically correct to admit, when it comes to just about anything, “looks” really do matter. Of course, what each of us considers attractive can be subjective. What turns my head may turn your stomach.

Though far from scientific, a great example of this can be found on wine bottles. Wine marketers spend exorbitant amounts of time trying to figure out ways to make their brands stand out on the shelf, and the label is a wine’s way of making a first impression.

I have two words for those who scoff at artsy wine panels: Mouton Rothschild. The über famous Bordeaux winemaker has been commissioning famous painters to spruce up its labels since 1946.

California’s Bear Flag Smooth Red ($12.95 to $13.99) may not be as posh as Mouton, but its label adds new meaning to the term decorative.

It’s a cartoon explosion of images that includes a magic bus, a big bear and a not-so-subtle jab at the labels of the great French Chateaus. It’s a natural to wash down grilled burgers and will look great doing it.

Brekkie Pie

This recipe makes 4 pies. CONTRIBUTED/PRIME PUBS

Who says you can’t have pie for breakfast?

Brekkie pie. This favourite includes scrambled eggs, breakfast sausage and bacon, baked in a crisp pastry — what more could you want?

1. Thaw pie shells and pastry rounds, then follow package directions to pre-cook pie shells. Rounds will be used raw.

2. Whisk 8 eggs together with salt and pepper until smooth.

3. Add butter to large saucepan on medium heat. Add sausage and bacon to pan and cook for 5 minutes, stirring occasionally, until bacon fat has rendered off, about 5 minutes.

4. Add whisked eggs to pan. Continue mixing until eggs begin to set and are slightly white in colour. Add grape tomatoes and green onions.

5. Remove pan from heat. Add cream cheese and hollandaise sauce. Mix well.

6. Divide mixture equally in bottom of each shell and cover with pie shell top. Press edges with fork to seal.

7. Brush beaten egg on tops using pastry brush.

8. Place pies in 375 F oven and cook until pastry is golden and crispy, about 12 minutes.

9. Remove from oven and allow to cool slightly. Serve with your favourite salad.

Chef’s Tip: Purchase packaged pie shells and pastry dough from grocery store.

RECIPE COURTESY OF CHEF BRYAN JUREK OF PRIME PUBS’ FAMILY OF PREMIUM PUBS, WHICH INCLUDES FIONN MACCOOL’S AND D’ARCY MCGEE’S

Ingredients

Carlyle plans shuffle to get Leafs moving

Preparing for Game 2

Injuries and poor play will result in a different looking Toronto lineup on Saturday in Boston

Expect lineup changes Saturday night when the Toronto Maple Leafs try to improve their fortunes against the Boston Bruins in Game 2 of their NHL playoff series.

Some will be enforced. Toronto coach Randy Carlyle said Thursday that Michael Kostka was out with a broken finger after taking a shot in the second period of Wednesday's 4-1 loss, while fellow defenceman Cody Franson had a bruised foot courtesy of a Bruins shot.

Star forward Phil Kessel, who was one of several Leaf big guns missing in action Wednesday, was absent from practice Thursday in what was termed a "maintenance day."

The last Leaf to have a maintenance day was first-line centre Tyler Bozak and that led to him sitting out the final two days of the regular season. But Kessel, who had just one shot on net Wednesday, said he was fine.

"I've got a couple of things

Head coach Randy Carlyle shares a laugh with his team during Thursday's practice at Boston University. Carlyle said he'll make changes to the Leafs' lineup after Wednesday night's 4-1 Game 1 loss. STEVE RUSSELL/TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE to take care of and that's about it," said Kessel.

The Leafs leading scorer reportedly got some treatment on his wrist during Wednesday's game.

Carlyle made it clear that he plans to revamp his lineup, with defencemen Ryan O'Byrne and Jake Gardiner as possible additions.

"I would suggest that one of them or maybe both of them are going to play," said Carlyle.

Asked about his forwards,

the coach said: "There will be changes up front."

Joe Colbourne, Ryan Hamilton and Matt Frattin are waiting in the wings, with question marks over Frazer McLaren and Colton Orr. Both tough guys were involved in a melee at the end of the game.

"I think the emotions and the chippiness have to be demonstrated in a positive way, not in a negative way as they were at the end of the game," said Carlyle.

Ference banned for head hit

Bruins defenceman Andrew Ference was suspended one game on Thursday for an illegal check to the head of Toronto Maple Leafs forward Mikhail Grabovski in Wednesday's Game 1.

- The league called the hit reckless in ruling that Ference had lunged toward the oncoming Leaf.

5 ways to get back at Bruins

1 Win battles for the puck: Too often in Game 1, the Leafs looked like they didn't want the puck, turning it over easily. Better puck possession is a must. It begins with doing whatever it takes to get it away from the Bruins.

2 Clear the zone: Getting the puck is one thing, getting it out is another. Too often, the Leafs made dangerous plays up the middle, or weak passes. The Bruins offence thrives on turnovers.

3 Get the puck deep: The Leafs were awful in the neutral zone, maybe a tad too fancy for their own good. Getting the puck deep is vital to safe line changes, creating offence and wearing down the Bruins defence.

4 Cycle the puck: The Leafs have been settling for a quick shot on goal. Instead, they should be patient and spend more time in the Bruins' zone.

5 Remain calm: The Leafs got frustrated in Game 1 and started taking silly penalties. They have to find a way to stay out of the box — and put more Bruins in there.

Romero back in Jays' nest to replace ailing Johnson

MLB. Former all-star returns to Toronto mound with one single-A start under his belt this season

The Toronto Blue Jays are looking to a familiar face to replace ailing starter Josh Johnson.

Left-hander Ricky Romero will make his season debut Friday after Toronto placed right-hander Johnson on the 15-day disabled list Thursday.

Johnson missed his last start due to inflammation in his right triceps. The move is retroactive to April 29.

"Yesterday we thought he was going to be OK," said Toronto manager John Gibbons. "He went out, played some catch, (threw) his bullpen, but then he started complaining, 'Y'know what, it really hasn't gone away.'"

"He was still a little bit concerned about it."

Johnson is 0-1 with a 6.86 earned-run average in four starts since being acquired in an off-season trade with the Miami Marlins.

"He'd been feeling pretty good, but he hadn't thrown in a while, but then he played catch on the side (Wednesday) and it felt pretty good but he still hadn't aired it out," said Gibbons. "He was airing it out a little before stepping on the mound and he heard alarm bells."

Romero has 125 career starts with Toronto with a 51-43 record and 4.09 ERA. H o w - ever, the 2011 all-star struggled in spring training and started the season in the minors to work on his mechanics.

He had one start with single-A Dunedin, allowing one run on six hits in seven innings.

"(Blue Jays roving pitching instructor Dane Johnson) felt he was ready to go," said Gibbons. "Ricky feels good, he's anxious to do it."

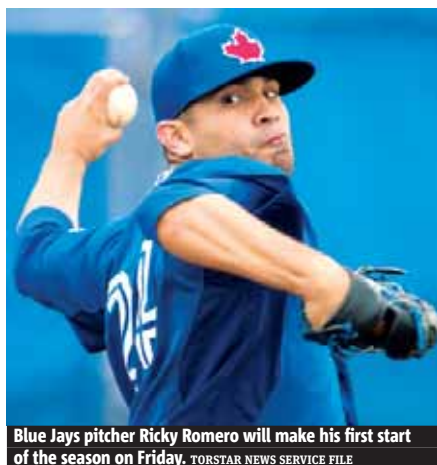

Toronto also recalled right-hander Brad Lincoln from triple-A Buffalo but Gibbons said the Blue Jays will make a move after Thursday's game against Boston to make space for Romero. Lincoln has made two appearances for the major-league club this season, allowing two runs in two innings.

Gibbons said Romero will not be limited to a pitch count in Friday's start.

"He's strong," said Gibbons. "We won't get carried away, but he's ready to go."

Gibbons was unsure of how long Romero would stay up with the big club, saying they were just focused on Friday's start.

Locker-room kerfuffle

Grapes' rants out of touch, but not cruel

CATHAL KELLY
Special to Metro

On Wednesday night, while we sat watching Coach's Corner, Don Cherry cited something I'd written to bolster his argument that female reporters should not be allowed into big league dressing rooms.

He butchered the pronunciation of my name. My wife looked over at me and said, "Is he talking about you?"

Cherry'd picked out one anecdote in a column I'd written in the immediate aftermath of Blackhawk Duncan Keith's tangle with a female reporter. It had to do with something I'd seen in the visitors' locker room at the ACC the week before.

I'd used it to suggest that while idiots will be idiots, most women possess a fairly reliable idiot-deflection apparatus. Every female sports reporter I've ever known is more than capable of shrugging off a lout. It's a key skill in life, as well as in sports.

Cherry being Cherry, he doubled down on his stand on Monday night.

"You would not want your daughter or your sister in there, believe me," Cherry said.

As men, perhaps we ought not be in the business of telling women — however they're related to us — where they can and cannot go. We've tried it before. I thought we'd all agreed it was a bad idea.

Toronto pitchers miss the mark against Red Sox

Jacoby Ellsbury and Mike Carp each had a hit and an RBI on Thursday as the Boston Red Sox took advantage of the Toronto Blue Jays' ongoing pitching woes to secure a 3-1 victory.

Ryan Dempster (2-2) of Gibbons, B.C., pitched six innings for Boston (20-8), giving up one run and striking out four. Joel Hanrahan pitched a scoreless ninth inning for his fourth save on the year.

J.A. Happ (2-2) got the start for the Blue Jays (10-19), but struggled with control over his 3 2/3 innings of work, giving up three hits, two earned runs and seven walks.

Happ and four Toronto relievers combined for 10 walks, six hits and a wild pitch. The most walks the Red Sox had in a game this season prior to Thursday was nine in a 7-2 win over the Cleveland Indians on April 16.

Brett Lawrie of Langley, B.C., hit a home run for the Blue Jays' only run.

Jakob Silfverberg and Marc Methot scored early in the third period as the Ottawa Senators rode brilliant goaltending from Craig Anderson to a 4-2 victory over the Montreal Canadiens on Thursday night.

The win gave Ottawa a 1-0 lead in the best-of-seven Eastern Conference quarter-final series, with Game 2 set for Friday night at the Bell Centre.

Erik Karlsson and Guillaume Latendresse also scored for the Senators, who were outshot 50-31 but had Anderson easily win the goaltending duel with Carey Price, who was beaten twice through the five-hole.

Rene Bourque and Brendan Gallagher replied for Montreal, which set a team record for shots in a regulation-time playoff game.

The game was the first between Canadian teams in the playoffs since 2004.

Huynh. Olympic champ to plead wrestling's case to IOC

Olympic champion Carol Huynh believes wrestling is one of the purest sports.

There's no equipment, no padding — just "your hands, your heart and your mind."

"Those are the things that you bring to the Olympic Games with this sport," Huynh said. "I feel very strongly about this."

The 32-year-old hopes to convey that when she and fellow Olympic gold medallist Daniel Igali plead their sport's case to the International Olympic Committee on May 29 in a bid to keep wrestling on the Games program.

Huynh, a native of Hazelton, B.C., made history at the 2008 Beijing Olympics as Canada's first female gold medallist in the sport then went on to win bronze last summer in London before retiring.

She was floored when she heard the IOC's decision in February to remove wrestling from the 2020 Olympics.

"I was just shocked, I had no idea this was happening; I had no idea that there was any decision like this coming about

Quoted

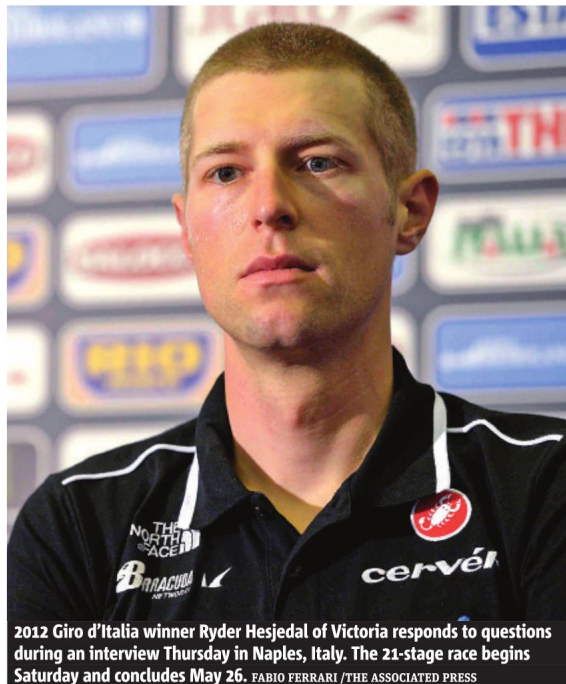

"It was part of the Ancient Games as well as in the very first modern Olympic Games."

Carol Huynh, an Olympic gold and bronze medal winner on the historical significance of wrestling at that time. It just blew my mind," Huynh said Thursday at an athletes summit for the 2015 Pan American Games in Toronto.

Huynh said there are two avenues wrestling can take to be reinstated. The first is at the May 29 IOC meeting where wrestling will compete with seven other sports for a provisional spot in the 2020 Games. Officials also will lobby the 114-member IOC General Session in September in Buenos Aires in hopes of overturning the executive board's original recommendation by a simple majority vote. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Hesjedal a marked man heading into 2013 Giro

2012 Giro d'Italia winner Ryder Hesjedal of Victoria responds to questions during an interview Thursday in Naples, Italy. The 21-stage race begins Saturday and concludes May 26. FABIO FERRARI / THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cycling. Canada's defending champ looks to channel his aggression in Grand Tour of Italy

Ryder Hesjedal may be a marked man at this year's Giro d'Italia, but the Canadian cyclist says he has never been more relaxed.

Hesjedal will try to become the first rider to win back-to-back Giro titles since Spain's Miguel Indurain in 1992 and 1993 when the iconic race begins Saturday in Naples, Italy.

Seizing the moment

"You have to force the race at different times and take your chances."

Victoria cyclist Ryder Hesjedal discusses his strategy for the Giro d'Italia

Hesjedal was considered a strong rider heading into last year's 95th running of the race — he was fifth at the 2010 Tour de France — but he was still an outsider in a field of top European racers.

Undaunted, the Victoria native stayed in the mix in each stage and took the pink jersey on the race's final day, becoming the first Canadian to win a Grand Tour event.

Hesjedal won't be flying under the radar this year, and the likes of 2012 Tour de France winner and Olympic gold medallist Bradley Wiggins and Italian favourite Vincenzo Nibali will be gunning for him. But Hesjedal has been buoyed by his preparation for the gruelling 21-stage race, which finishes in Brescia on May 26.

"I have that confidence, and I'm relaxed in the sense that I've already won the Giro," Hesjedal said Thursday in a phone interview from Naples. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Horoscopes

Aries

March 21 - April 20

There is more than one way to reach your destination, so don't get upset if your current path is blocked. Aries are inventive, so use your mind to acquire what it is you desire.

Taurus

April 21 - May 21

It would appear that someone you work with has been less than honest with you. Most likely it won't affect you but it will cause you to think twice before you trust them again.

Gemini

May 22 - June 21

You may not have all the answers to life's big questions but you do know enough to tell someone they are talking nonsense. Don't back off just because they have a reputation that you don't. The truth trumps everything.

Cancer

June 22 - July 23

You will be surprised to find yourself agreeing with someone whose views you usually dismiss as irrelevant. Maybe they do have something to say. Maybe they can teach you something new.

Leo

July 24 - Aug. 23

Interesting information will come your way soon and you must use it to improve your bargaining power. Your rivals would not ignore it, so why should you?

Virgo

Aug. 24 - Sept. 23

The very last thing you should do today is to try to force people to see things your way. Persuasion is always better than coercion.

Libra

Sept. 24 - Oct. 23

When you ask a straight question you expect a straight answer and if you don't get it today you can be pretty sure someone is hiding something from you.

Scorpio

Oct. 24 - Nov. 22

What's your big idea? You do have one, don't you? The planets are working in your favour now and if you run with that idea you could make a name for yourself – and maybe a fortune to go with it!

Sagittarius

Nov. 23 - Dec. 21

How can you make your life more interesting – and more profitable too? Give it some thought over the next day and soon you'll have had one of those light bulb moments.

Capricorn

Dec. 22 - Jan. 20

You are determined to get your way but others are just as keen to stop you getting your way. So what do you do? Trick them by pushing for the opposite of what you actually want. It might just work.

Aquarius

Jan. 21 - Feb. 19

Your rational mind may reject what you see or hear today but a deeper part of you will know at once that it is true. If in doubt always listen to your inner voice. It has the answers.

Pisces

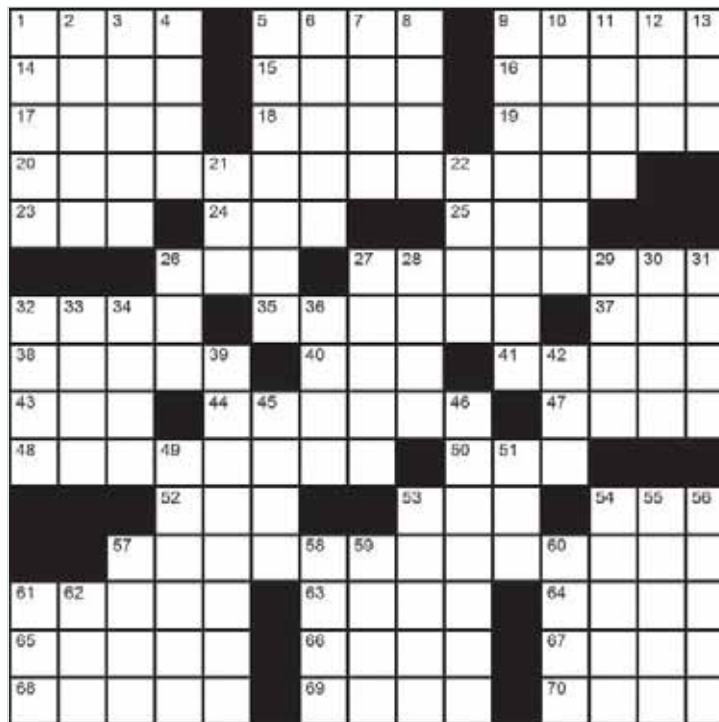

Feb. 20 - March 20

Try not to be too domineering, especially when dealing with loved ones. You know that what they are doing will end in tears but, if they won't listen, they'll just have to find out for themselves.
